AMBA Announces New Board of Directors Executive Committee

Indianapolis, IN – The American Mold Builders Association (AMBA) is excited to announce a new Executive Committee at the helm of the AMBA Board of Directors in advance of the AMBA Conference 2023 - Powering Growth.

The new AMBA Executive Committee features AMBA Board President, Tom Barr, TK Mold & Engineering (Romeo, MI); Vice President Tyler VanRee, Legacy Precision Molds (Grandville, MI); Treasurer Andy Peterson, Industrial Molds (Rockford, IL); Immediate Past President Jim Sperber, Master Tool & Mold (Grafton, WI) and Alan Rothenbuecher, Benesch Law (Cleveland, OH), the board’s secretary and legal counsel.

The AMBA Board of Directors (BOD), led by its Executive Committee, represents experience across all facets of the U.S. mold manufacturing industry. As a governing body, these directors supervise, drive and support the strategic initiatives and priorities of the Association, as well as oversee disbursement of Association funds.

“This year, AMBA is celebrating 50 years of service to the U.S. mold manufacturing industry,” stated Kym Conis, AMBA Managing Director. “While this is an opportunity to reflect on the many accomplishments of the AMBA and its members to date, it’s also an exciting time to explore opportunities for industry-wide innovation, growth and connection – both present and future. We look forward to uniting with AMBA’s leadership team and to welcoming the new perspectives that will guide AMBA through decades to come.”

The AMBA is now seeking to fill open positions on its 2023 BOD slate. To join the AMBA Board of Directors, applicants must be either an owner, partner, officer or managerial employee approved to serve, from an AMBA company in good standing with the Association. Those passionate about American mold manufacturing - its increased visibility, sustainability and growth - are encouraged to apply.
