AMBA Publishes New 2018 Sourcebook

American Mold Builders Association (AMBA), Indianapolis, IN, recently published the 2018 AMBA Sourcebook – The Source for U.S. Mold Builders, Services and Supplies. The Sourcebook is a key resource in the industry, providing valuable information for sourcing skills-certified mold builders in the U.S. The reference guide allows users to sort by capabilities, geographic location, type and size of molds built, industries served and more – right at their fingertips. From plastic injection molds, compression molds, blow molds, rotational molds, stack and thermoform molds to rubber silicone molds, injection molds and more, users will find a wealth of information to help them source the right AMBA mold builder for the job.

To source products, equipment and services to the mold building industry, AMBA partners are listed alphabetically, with contact information and full descriptions of products and services for easy reference.

Stop by the AMBA booth #S33058 for the new 2018 AMBA Sourcebook and get the AMBA Competitive Advantage! For additional search capabilities, visit www.amba.org and click on Find a Mold Builder.
